About the Project

The NET.ART project begins with taking a sentence randomized from 3-4 unrelated news articles. It is based on Tristan Tzara's "To Make a Dadaist Poem". It involves moving around words and changing the context. With this newly generated sentence, we create multiple online pages with different mediums (HTML, GIF files, etc).

Randomized Prompt

“Those remaining, a sanctuary of water tigers in the past.”

- Could be interpreted as a story about near extinction. Perhaps a massive event.
- Goes from cool colors to warmer colors after the destruction.

Page One Layout

- Starts off peaceful
- Added cattails take you to the next page

Page Two Layout

- Following the lilypad tiger
- hand drawn gif, to spice it up a little bit!

Page Three Layout

- A change in the sky
- clicking the asteroid gives a close up
- clicking the tiger moves the page on

- Stacked flames to show aftermath of impact
- clicking the wall of flames moves you on

Page Five Layout

- The end screen
- Shows the skull of a tiger
- Clicking the flame in the eye starts “life” over
